Reason for less Export and Employment:

The unit stated that, they faced a decline in exports and employment due to the COVID-19 pandemic, which began shortly after operations started in January 2020. The pandemic caused delays, cancellations, and changes in customer needs, slowing contract growth. As a result, projections were not met. However, from 2023, the situation improved with a rise in contracts, exports, and remote work supporting the recovery.
