(ii)	Brief detail of the project	Varex Imaging Corporation, headquartered in Salt Lake City, USA, has over 75 years of expertise in developing advanced X-ray imaging components. Formerly part of Varian, the company provides a wide range of products such as X-ray tubes, detectors, cathodes, collimators, ionization chambers, mammography paddles, and imaging software. These components are widely used in medical diagnostics, cargo screening, border security, and industrial inspections. With a global footprint of over 2,300 employees across 13 manufacturing sites and 20 sales and service locations, Varex has established itself as a leading supplier to OEMs worldwide. In India, the company operates through Varex Imaging Manufacturing India Private Limited, incorporated in June 2022. The Indian arm was set up to manufacture, supply, and export X-ray imaging system components and related accessories. It is establishing three key facilities—Visakhapatnam (X-ray flat panel detectors), Talegaon-Pune (X-ray tube inserts), and Chakan-Pune (X-ray tubes, glass fab, and cathodes). The Chakan unit, currently functioning as a Domestic Tariff Area (DTA), is proposed to be converted into an Export Oriented Unit (EOU) to strengthen exports and enhance global competitiveness. The new project proposal focuses on converting the Chakan DTA unit into an EOU for manufacturing X-ray tubes and parts, glass fab assemblies, and cathode components. Production will start with Varex's high-volume radiographic components, leveraging advanced processes such as vacuum tube assembly, precision glass fabrication, and cathode engineering. The facility will cater to both domestic and international markets, with exports targeted to countries like Germany, USA, Japan, and China. Over the next five years, the project is projected to achieve significant foreign exchange earnings, generate employment, and support the government's vision of boosting high-technology manufacturing under the EOU scheme.
